

Welcome Back!

Contributed by Alex
Tuesday, 02 September 2008

Well, I am finally back from all my travels. It was a busy but fantastic summer. I'll return to my usual blogging levels soon, but for now, I'll leave you with this:

I was a pretty big musicphile in my early 20s (mostly emo, folk, and brit pop...but still), but switched over to watching films because it's easier to do I guess. Anyway, in the height of my musical awareness, I stumbled up "Spiritualized." I recently re-stumbled while watching the forgettable "Pineapple Express." In one of the only interesting scenes, the lead guy is pulling out his friend from a fire to the Spiritualized song "I Didn't Mean to Heart You". It's a great song. Check it out if you want your face crushed in.

glad to be back.

ab.